Get hands-on experience at this in-depth, two-day ITAR workshop, plus hear the LATEST UPDATES to the Export Control Reform Act as of October 2014.

Topics will be presented by seasoned compliance professionals, including Gene Christiansen, a senior licensing officer from the Bureau of Industry and Security, who was involved in the drafting and review of the ECR regulations being implemented this year, as well as Bruce Leeds and Christos Linardakis from the Braumiller Law Group. Mr. Leeds and Mr. Linardakis have extensive private industry experience working for companies involved in ITAR licensing, and they currently provide international compliance training and legal counseling to companies throughout the United States. Fred Elliott, representing the Aerospace team from the International Trade Administration, and Howard Thompson, representing the Ohio Aerospace Institute, will provide updates specific to the Aerospace industry.

IN-DEPTH TOPICS.

- Licensing defense articles and technical data, ITAR provisos, exemptions and RWA
- Export Control Reform Act (ECR): latest rules, implementation schedule and transition issues
- Changes to the CCL from the USML, 600-series, specially designed, "Catch and release" procedures
- ECCN classification, commodity jurisdictions (CJ's) and internal controls

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

- ◇ Aerospace and defense companies and their domestic suppliers
- ◇ Manufacturers in general who are considering an export program but have been reluctant to proceed due to concerns about compliance with the International Traffic in Arms Regulations (ITAR)
- ◇ Current exporters whose products may be transitioning from the US Munitions List (USML) to the Export Administration Regulations under the Export Control Reform (ECR) Act.
