

China Initiates Antidumping Duty Investigation into Analog Chips (Chips) from the United States

China Initiates Antidumping Duty Investigation into Analog Chips (Chips) from the United States

On September 13, 2025, China’s Ministry of Commerce initiated an antidumping (AD) investigation into imports of analog chips (chips) from the United States. If an affirmative decision is issued in this investigation, duties may be imposed on subject U.S. exports.

What is an antidumping duty (AD) investigation?

An AD investigation assesses whether foreign goods imported into a country are being sold at less than fair value (below prices or costs) in the domestic market (i.e., being dumped) and whether this is causing or threatening to cause injury to the domestic industry.

How can I participate?

U.S. companies involved in the production, sale, or distribution of the subject goods should register as interested parties as soon as possible. Registration is the first step in protecting your rights in a foreign trade remedy proceeding. Doing so allows you to access the case records and submit information and comments, ensuring that your views are considered. Please follow the directions outlined in sections three, six, and seven of the Initiation Notice for instructions on how to register as an interested party.

KEY DATES
Period of Investigation	January 1, 2024, through December 31, 2024
Registration Deadline	October 3, 2025
Initial Questionnaire Response Deadline*	November 9, 2025
Preliminary Determination*?	TBA
Final Determination*	September 13, 2026

*Estimated

Products Under Investigation

The products subject to this investigation are analog integrated circuit chips which are used in a wide range of electronics, such as computers, cars, and industrial equipment, for data transmission and signal conversion, and are classified under HS code 8542.39.90. A complete description of the scope can be found on pages 2-4 of the Initiation Notice.

Contact Us

The U.S. Department of Commerce's Office of Trade Remedy Compliance supports U.S. companies facing foreign trade remedy proceedings (antidumping duty, countervailing duty, and safeguard actions) and ensures foreign governments comply with their international trade obligations. Should you have any questions, please contact TRCS@trade.gov. For more information, visit Office of Trade Remedy Compliance.