Leading Nunavik's Energy Transition

« While Inuit and the world's other Indigenous peoples are among the most seriously affected by climate change, we do not accept the role of victims. We have much to teach the world about sustainability and living in harmony with nature, and about being responsible stewards of nature. »

SHEILA WATT-CLOUTIER

2007 Nobel peace prize nominee
and author of the award-winning book
« The Right to be cold »
